Biography

Dr. Al Snyder is a veterinarian with a very diverse background in working with people and animals. He is a talented speaker and motivator, and he comes with a sincere interest and desire to help people achieve more in their lives. In leadership and training workshops, he helps people understand the close connection between one's attitude and one's ability to achieve. Through a close involvement with handicapped individuals, he understands first-hand that all people can accomplish more than they ever dreamed possible. Creativity is an important key to his success.

With his entrepreneurial spirit, he started a light bulb maintenance business while in college. After majoring in vocational agricultural education and psychology at the University of Wyoming and receiving his Doctorate of Veterinary Medicine at Colorado State University, he practiced veterinary medicine in mixed animal practices in Wyoming, Nebraska and Montana. He later went into computer sales and practice management consultations throughout the mid-west. He was named General Manager and was a managing partner of Advanced Veterinary Systems software company in 1991. Advanced Veterinary Systems was sold in 1995, and Dr. Snyder currently owns The UPS Store in Hudson, Wisconsin.

Hypnosis shows have been around for decades, and Dr. Al Snyder has also performed as a hypnotist for over 25 years. With such a strong and unique background of working with people on a personal, business, entertainment, educational, and sales basis, his talents are adaptable to nearly any program. He has performed at over 400 engagements in 25 states around the United States, entertaining nearly a quarter million people. His sincerity and enthusiasm, combined with his ability to relate to any age group, make his sessions a hit with any audience.
